FACULTY AND ADMINISTRATION

'...excellent
community support.'

"Our school system receives excellent community support," commented Mr. Davis, superintendent of schools. This support is evidenced by the members of the school board who donate their time. The public is aware of these men by their appearances at graduation but frequently forgets the amount of time a member spends reading and writing reports, analyzing financial conditions, and formulating policies.

The principals' main job is to keep the school running smoothly. Organizing schedules, ordering supplies, attending school functions, disciplining students, and speaking to parents are just a few of the duties of our principals at GCHS/South.

Counselors' primary task is to schedule students every semester. New lunch/study programs dealt with testing, scholarship funding, and orientation.

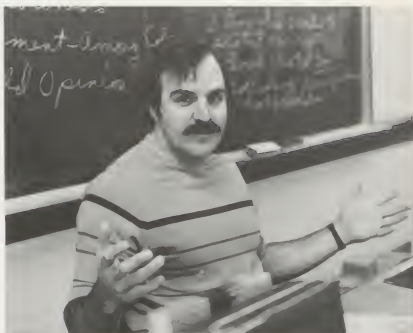

Developmental studies, according to Mrs. Spudich, "meets the needs of special students." A variety of classes and work-study programs dominate students' schedules.

Checking out library books is easier this year with new cards. In addition, the paperback book collection has been expanded to include the most recent titles.

One of the most popular courses in the Social Sciences department is P.I.E., Program of Individualized Education. In the program's second year Mr. Barker feels that the course has taught "students how to use freedom and independence". Students choose their own topic of study and the grade is based on an evaluation by student and teacher. One may visit a class to learn a dance, eat a bagel, or hear a guest.

Future plans include expanding course offerings for freshmen and sophomores.

'...more than a trade.'

In the vocational department students can choose courses from eight areas ranging from machine shop to building trades. Mr. Larry King feels that "students learn more than a trade. They learn to cooperate and work together congenially."

Building a new home on Clark Street has utilized many of the classes. Drafting classes formulated the blueprints, welding classes assisted with metal work, and the building trades classes erected the shell last year and finished the home this spring.

After forty-one years of teaching, Miss Hazel Towery asserts, "It is great to teach subjects that you know will help your pupils make a living, and it is just plain fun to teach skills. It was in 1934 and it still is in 1974."

Interest is still high in learning basic skills such as typing, bookkeeping, and shorthand. The business department has adjusted to the computer age by offering a course like data processing.

The math curriculum ranges from basic math to highly technical courses. Unlike other curricula, math is a sequential discipline. Mr. Nelson commented, "Much pleasure is derived from learning math. One is a participant and not just a spectator in math."

To keep pace with the times, a new pilot class, computer science was offered this spring. This class was designed to introduce students to basic principles, techniques, and languages of programming.

'Pleasure derived

'...courses provide increased interest.'

Changes in the English curriculum dominated the year. For the first time juniors and seniors were able to choose selectives. New experiences such as tasting food from other countries in Ethnic Literature and hearing guest speaker Noel Picard in Sports in Literature highlighted these courses.

Both students and faculty responded favorably to the new selectives. Miss Kuenstler believes "the new courses provide increased interest for both students and teachers".

'...creative expression.'

One of the many contributions of the art department is the modern painting of the main hall. Not only do the bright colors greet one, but the students themselves posed for the models. Mr. Aiassi, art consultant, feels that "art provides opportunities for creative expression."

Speech and foreign languages classes also allow for creative expressions in conversations, plays, or stories.

As the smell of formaldehyde permeates the hall, students recall dissecting their first frog in biology class. Mr. Jerry Dorth claims, "Freshmen are basically inquisitive and eager to learn." Science is one of the most lab-oriented subjects and that makes it one of the more popular classes.

One of the changes this year in the health department is that health is no longer a six week course but a one semester course. Many students really enjoy drivers education classes because they are a break from studying.

Interest continues to grow in home economics courses such as senior foods and consumer problems. Not only do the students learn how to handle financial problems but also learn to concoct a gourmet meal. Equal rights prevailed as boys for the first time took foods.

Classes in the music department range from instrumental to vocal. Mr. Owens, new music supervisor, asserts that "music is a universal language". Band students practice during the summers and fall to perform during football games.

"Not only does physical education give students daily exercise but also teaches students how to use future leisure time well," according to Mrs. Linda Hill. Classes range from family living to gymnastics for the girls and from weight lifting to softball for the boys.

P.E. teachers often devote time after school for intramural activities which allow students to perfect basic skills taught in regular classes.

No school could function without the secretaries, custodians, and cafeteria cooks. Secretaries help in preparing schedules and enrolling students. Mrs. Luckert enjoys her job because "my job helps both the students and teachers."

A new assistant, Mr. Charles McMillan monitors the halls and parking lots to enforce school rules. Custodians and cooks usually are unappreciated; yet, without their help the building would be in disrepair and the cafeteria empty.

SENIORS

After a highly-contested race, four members were chosen to be senior class officers. President Greg Terrell said, "It is an honor and a privilege to serve the 1975 Senior Class."

Some of the duties of the class officers consist of selecting announcements, presiding over senior meetings, and planning money-making projects. The senior class officers are not a part of the Student Council, although in some of the projects they do work together.

The senior class officers for this year were Greg Terrell, President; Mark Eavenson, Vice-President; Denece Teetor, Treasurer; Jo Elaine Foster, Secretary.

Although this season's record was disappointing, the football team offered tough competition, losing several games by one or two points. Not even a fourth of the team were returning lettermen. Paul Evans stated that "the team was rebuilding for next year."

Practices began in mid-August and concentrated on getting in shape and learning plays. By viewing game films coaches and players plan the next game's strategy. The team's summer program, lifting weights, running sprints, and exercising, should assure a winning season next year.

'...they were

Coach Baker's criterion for success "is that at least once during the season the team had that feeling that they were the best." This is evident by the record 17-3-1. Charlie Bennington broke the school's scoring record with thirty-three goals.

Four team members, Ron Goldschmidt, Dave Sheridan, Charlie Bennington, and Anthony Valencia were honored by making the All-Metro East team. Next year's tough schedule will offer stiff competition to the young team.

"In cross country size doesn't matter," remarked senior harrier Dave Brown. This is one of the few sports in which the dominating factor is not size. But there is emphasis on endurance and pace.

During practice a harrier runs five to six miles a night. This enables him to run the home 2.83 mile course in less than seventeen minutes. Team captain Dwayne Terry led the varsity team which was coached by Mr. Harmon.

Temperament, rhythm, finesse, and courtesy are some of the characteristics of golf as well as strong concentration and fortitude. "Golf is also a game of etiquette and thought," remarked Craig Bailey. These traits distinctively make golf a game of tolerance.

In a night's practice the golfers will play nine holes, drive one hundred balls, and then extensive putting on the green. Last spring the golfers were under the direction of Coach Williams and this fall Coach Schuman.

Last year's success was due to seniors Mark Harbison, Bill Skirball, Ron Motil, John Lotzy, and Brad Bickhaus. This year's senior roster includes Jim Kafka, Terry Ravanelli, and Don Dotzauer, along with captain Don Gresco, Craig Bailey co-captain and team statistician.

“Wrestling is worth

To be a wrestler one must make many sacrifices such as wrestling in a room that is 90°, watching everyone eat, and having to get one's hair cut. Even doing this Brian Wilson, a three year varsity wrestler, said, “Wrestling is worth all the sacrifice.”

Daily practice consists of conditioning, learning techniques, and entering competition. First the boys limber up, then practice drills, and finally engage in competition. Each grappler must perform his best because he alone determines the outcome of the match.

Even though Coach Schmitt said, "Winning alone does not make a true champion," he has been making champions for the past twenty-five years. From 1951 to 1975 his dual meet record was 378 wins, 31 losses, 5 ties; won 84 tournaments with the team winning state in 1965.

"Red" Schmitt has influenced wrestling on the national level by being president of the National Wrestling Coaches Association from 1973-1974, Vice-President of the N.C.A.A. Wrestling Coaches Association 1972-1973, Advisor of N.C.A.A. wrestling rules committee 1972-1973, and he is a member of the Illinois Wrestling Hall of Fame.

Past wrestlers, fans, and faculty attended a testimonial dinner held in March to honor Coach Schmitt for the years he has devoted to make wrestling synonymous with GCHS/South.

'Winning alone does not make a true champion.'

'... a matter

To explain the weak showing of the basketball Warriors, Coach Wilkinson said, "It's a matter of exposure to basketball through a good elementary program."

Leading the team this year in scoring were Bob Hutchings and Ken Bertrand. Bertrand was the club's best scorer and rebounder, averaging 13 points and 10 rebounds per game.

Exposure to professional tennis on television has helped increase the popularity of high school tennis. Coach Harmon, who took his team to state, developed a strong team by drilling on net work, cross court work, and serving.

Last year's success was due to seniors John Brook, Bill Berger, Gary Osborne, Frank Faulkner, Steve McClusky, and Alan Davenport. Individual honors went to Bill Rusick.

‘...gets me in shape.’

Hours of practice every spring make the track team successful. Although there are not many spectators, the team members practice nightly by running sprints, long distances, and stairs. Then the four coaches divide the team into sections: long distance runners, relay and sprint runners, pole vaulters and jumpers, and weight men.

Mike Lansaw, senior, feels that “track gets me in shape”. The hours devoted to track are beneficial in other sports.

"Hard work paid off for the Warriors," stated Coach Miller. They set several meet, school, and conference records including a distance medley conference record of 11:09.1 set by Dave Ruebhausen, Dave Brown, Jim Hall, and Dewayne Terry. The distance track meet brought more awards with six boys qualifying for state. Among these were Tom Schooley in the low hurdles, Dewayne Terry in the mile, and Larry Haddix, Joe Ward, and Dave Ruebhausen in the relays.

Tom Schooley placed a surprising third in state after coming off the injury list just five races earlier. This placement gave the Warriors five state placers in the last five years.

'tennis is an aggressive game.'

Hockey and tennis begin the girls' athletic season. Although only six matches were played, Robin Deterding represented G.C.H.S. in the state tournament. Robin feels "tennis is an aggressive game". With an expanded schedule next year, the team, under the guidance of Miss Schultze, hopes to improve its record.

Even though the hockey team, coached by Miss Mitchell, did not play until November, the fall weather was perfect for practice and games.

'I like to run.'

Last year was the first year for interscholastic track and badminton. The girls' track team arrived at school 6:30 every morning for three months to practice. Their practices consisted of lifting weights, running sprints, and running stairs.

Becky Batson, junior, joined the track team because "I like to run". She also said "Many girls don't want to work so they don't go out for the team." The team hopes for an expanded schedule this year.

Academic classes dominate the student's schedule, but electives permit him to take classes such as foods, chemistry, and typing. Extra curricular activities help to break the monotony of the daily routine.

"I can't believe it."

As usual, choosing queens accents each sport season. Miss School Spirit, Annette Tarpoff, was chosen by fall lettermen. In turn, the Senior Class chose Terri Moran to represent GCHS/South in the basketball tournament queen competition.

Wrestling teams select queens for holiday and sectional tournaments. These girls frequently attend meets and show enthusiasm for the sport. When Debbie Cavins was told she was selected a holiday queen, she exclaimed, "I can't believe it."

Last year Student Council initiated two new programs. The first was to hold the prom, with the theme "The Way We Were", at the Sheraton Jefferson Hotel, beginning with a dinner and then dancing in the large ballroom.

Another one of the major projects last year was the beautification project. An attempt was made to clean up and decorate the area between the cafeteria and the main building. After spending a weekend of planting trees, Dan Lawrence said, "It gave me a sense of achievement." Future plans include adding benches and decorating the patio.

Last spring the senior class play was, The Impossible Years. Directed by Mr. Ron Pennell, this play dealt with the controversial subject of teenage marriage.

Students could really relate to the sophomore class play, Up the Down Staircase, which was presented in November. Directed by Mrs. Beverly Scroggins, a cast of thirty practiced daily for three weeks. Debbie Grady commented, "You can't really appreciate the hard work in a play until you have been in one!"

Junior Follies are the one act skits presented by the students currently enrolled in oral communications during the fall semester of school. This year's performance was directed by Mr. Richard King; stage scenery was designed and built by stagecraft classes. Last year's popular theme was Nostalgia, recalling memories for all.

The theme last year was Movies, and the skits concentrated on musicals such as, "The King and I", "Sound of Music", and "Lost Horizon". Although a streaker disrupted the performance, the senior girls appreciated the work put in May Day.

The homecoming play this year was FAMILY PORTRAIT. A religious play had not been performed since the early sixties. There was some concern for its possible success, but Annette Tarpoff was "surprised by the audience's favorable reaction."

The large cast was chosen through open tryouts. Mr. King, the director, felt that every night at rehearsal was chaotic. However, he said the play was well-performed by all.

1974 Homecoming
Queen and Court

'...a great honor.'

Announcing the Homecoming Queen and her escort was the high point of the 1974 homecoming festivities. This year's queen Terri Moran and escort Woody Halbrook both felt "it was a great honor and one that we'll remember for the rest of our lives". As usual, the announcement was not made until moments before curtain time and emotions were high.

After the tears, congratulations, and reassembling, the court was presented to the audience. Melanie Asadorian, retiring May Day Queen, crowned Terri Moran. Although the ceremony was short, Woody Halbrook said, "The experience will last a lifetime."

'...to build spirit.'

Pep assemblies accented this year's fall sports. Several assemblies were held to help increase school spirit. Whether held outside or in the auditorium students actively participated and cheered for the football team.

Freshman Jill Sterling feels the purpose of pep rallies is "to build spirit". Gimmicks and posters throughout the school encourage the team and promote attendance at games.

In the fall Student Council sponsors several dances and the Homecoming Parade. Various money-making projects provide the stereo system, assemblies, and campus beautification. Also Christmas can goods are collected for the needy.

Spring activities include the Prom, Student Council elections, and the March of Dimes Walkathon. Kim Seybert stated, "This year we tried to create a more active student body."

The National Honor Society consists of juniors and seniors who are evaluated on character, leadership, activities, and scholarship. Upon application and fulfillment of requirements, students are initiated in a formal ceremony in mid-winter. Cindy Crews believes "National Honor Society is one of the rewards for long hours spent studying."

Masque & Gavel is an honorary society for those in theatrical arts. This group is responsible for organizing most Homecoming activities as well as the play.

Spanish Club meetings featured Spanish customs, culture, and history. The members visited a Spanish restaurant, The Hacienda and held a Christmas party where students sampled ethnic food. "I now have a better understanding of Spanish customs," mentioned Pam Meszaras.

German Club meetings also instilled an understanding of German culture. A general view of German customs was gained by visiting German restaurants and attending the Strassenfest. To raise money for these activities, the club sold bakery goods and warrior feathers.

Highlights were tours of Jefferson's home, the Smithsonian Institute, and Gettysburg's battlefields. Mr. Shatto, club sponsor, commented, "More interest in history and the world can be accomplished through travel."

Other activities include guest speakers, and visits to the Alton State Hospital where students entertain patients at Christmas.

Although the Photography Club is only two years old, it has purchased enough equipment to permit students to develop and print their own pictures. The club visited KSD-TV studio to see filming techniques and was invited on a program to discuss the value of photography as a hobby.

The Girls Athletic Association expanded from just intramural to include interscholastic programs. This year, Robln Deterding appreciates "the opportunity to compete with other schools. It compels us to do our best." Although the schedules were not extensive, they will increase yearly.

Even though the girls practice nightly, there is still time for mother-daughter banquets, picnics, and the exchanges with North. The exchange theme this year was "The Roaring Twenties." Presenting skits the girls recalled flappers doing the Charleston and the racoon coat and the straw hat routines.

"I joined Red Peppers because I wanted to show people I have school spirit," voiced Jolene MushIII. Red Peppers is an organized club to support school sports. The club organizes cheering sections for home and away games, decorates the hallways, and helps with all athletic banquets.

The club makes money by selling glimmicks, programs, and sponsoring busses to away games. The girls really show their spirit by making scrapbooks for all senior lettermen.

Girls who are interested in learning correct parliamentary procedure as well as assisting at school activities, enroll in the leadership class taught by Miss Barbara Kerch. These girls help counselors change schedules, pass out programs for various clubs, and act as guides for Parents Day and Freshmen Orientation Day.

According to Mark Buenger "the purpose of the Lettermans Club is to promote friendship and leadership among boys in all sports." To raise money for a Florida trip, members sold raffle tickets and held a donkey basketball game. On activity nights members played volleyball, basketball, and soccer with Red Peppers and G.A.A. members.

'Singing is relaxing.'

Training one's voice and learning to read music are two of the major goals in all chorus classes. To be a member, students must try out by singing scales and an excerpt from a song. Joan Davis said, "Singing is fun as well as relaxing."

To display their talents the groups perform at Christmas and in the spring. Several students strolled through the halls at Christmas time singing carols. This spring Advanced Mixed Chorus presented the Roger and Hammerstein musical South Pacific.

‘...cheering for our team.’

“Let’s Go Warriors” is a familiar cry heard at all games. Leading the crowd in cheers, various cheerleading squads promote school spirit. To qualify for cheerleading, a girl must be active for at least two seasons in Red Peppers. Then a panel of teachers and students make the final choice.

Activities this year included cheerleading camp, painting the soccer goal post, and making banners. Terri Moran commented, “It was great fun cheering for our teams.”

Paste-up, dummy, layouts, and rewrite are not foreign words to members of the High World staff. Students are responsible for the entire process of composing the paper. Their tasks include interviewing, soliciting ads, writing and rewriting, and finally distributing the bi-monthly paper.

News editor Paula Kohl remarked, "The purpose of our newspaper is to inform the student body about any activities going on at GCHS/South."

'... inform the student body.'

‘ ... constructive activity.’

Collecting absentee slips, delivering messages, filing, and handling dismissals are part of the daily routine in the attendance office. Girls in the main office send out failing notices, sort and deliver mail, and act as secretaries to the assistant principals. The duties of guidance assistants range from alphabetizing student files to answering the counselors' phones.

Faye Stroder volunteers her time because "it is a constructive activity".

Library assistants collect overdue book fines, check out library books, and assist students in finding material in the card catalog.

Performing necessary tasks to keep the infirmary running smoothly, the nurse's assistant may type an injured student's report, answer phone calls, and deliver call slips.

The assistants in the Audio Visual department are responsible for issuing equipment, cataloging films, organizing film schedules, and operating the various machines. Gail Watkins states, "A.V. work is a very relaxing job."

' ... a relaxing job.'

' ... deadlines are frantic periods. '

"Meeting deadlines are frantic periods," remarked Laura Mayfield. Our staff performs such tasks as working on layouts, cropping pictures, writing copy, and often performing these tasks after school, on school holidays, and on Saturday mornings. After the pressure of meeting our deadlines is over, we relax until the cycle repeats itself once again.

To train for the staff, several members attend a week long conference at the University of Wisconsin. This meeting emphasizes photography, layout design, and copy editing.

A time to remember

After thirteen years of cramming for tests, running to class with an armload of books, and doing endless piles of homework, the graduating class of 1975 is now ready to face the challenges of the years ahead. Realizing graduation is near, many of us are faced with important decisions such as college, career, marriage, or moving on to newer opportunities someplace else.

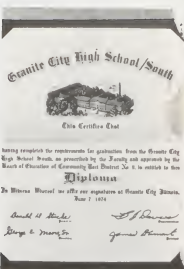

Although the last year is filled with such unforgettable memories as attending the prom, being in the May Day processional, choosing class rings and announcements, and receiving athletic and scholastic scholarship on Senior Recognition Day, we soon realize that we'll all never be together as a group again.

So in remembrance of all the good times of high school, I would like to dedicate this WARRIOR yearbook to the graduating class of 1975. But I would also like to thank Mrs. Hormell because without her wisdom, time and patience this yearbook would not be possible.

A time to remember joy and
 A time to remember new
 A time to remember
 The lovely September dew.

Days freshly strange and fragility tender
 Making the dawn of life
 A time to remember.

John Johnson

'...develops mental stamina.'

According to Kevin Konzen, "Track builds self-discipline and develops mental stamina." Through hard work and a trying schedule, seven athletes were able to qualify for the Illinois State Track meet held at Eastern Illinois University at Charleston.

The qualifiers were Tom Schooley in the 120 and 330 yrd. hurdles; Dwayne Terry in the mile run; Doug Hartman in the shot put; and the mile relay consisting of Joe Ward, Greg Ahlers, Frank Holmes and Tom Schooley.

Robin Deterding claims, "Track takes dedication." The girls' dedication showed as they arrived for morning practice at 6:45 at the beginning of the season. The workout consisted of running stairs, lifting weights and working on various techniques.

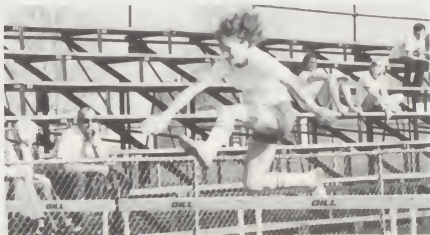

Mrs. Charbonnier commented that this was the first year practices were held after school. As a result, the team greatly improved its record.

An expanded schedule next year will provide more opportunities for the girls to show their skill.

Bob Sawicki views "tennis as a game of strategy, consistency and stamina." To prove his point the tennis team had a 11-3 conference record and a 17-6 overall record, with a twelve game winning streak.

Bill Rusick, the number one singles player, placed fourth in state after losing in the semi-finals to the eventual state champion.

Next year's young team has great potential and could easily become a conference contender according to Coach Harmon.

Although Kirk Champion admitted "walks can defeat a team," he still led the team with the highest number of strike outs: 43. Randy Lyerla had the lowest ERA: 2.03 with Greg Terrel posting the most wins.

At the spring athletic banquet Brian Sykes was named the Most Valuable Player, and Paul Mushill received an award for the best batting average: .281. Even though eleven seniors, five juniors and three sophomores lettered, the team had a disappointing record of 9-15.

Seniors gave their final performance in Arthur Miller's The Crucible, directed by Ron Pennell. Set in Salem, Massachusetts in 1692, the play disclosed the suspicion, frustration and fear felt by the nineteen people who were hanged in the witch trials.

Shelly Boyd, Annette Tarpoff, Janet Moss, Greg Terrell, Leon Scroggins and Kevin Kearns starred in the major roles.

Annette Tarpoff, as Elizabeth Proctor, commented, "Nothing is as taxing or as satisfying as performing."

'Nothing is as taxing or as satisfying...'

'...hours of practice.'

The vocal students combined their acting and singing talent to make their first musical South Pacific a success. The love of a young nurse and a French planter dominated the scenes between Jennie Powderly and David Tripp.

Margaret Schneck said, "May Day requires hours of practice but the evening is worth it." The theme this year was "Picture This" with paintings serving for the basis of the music. Girls from P.E. classes practice six weeks for the event.
